FAMOUS SHOW IS TABLOID SUCCESS

"Time, Place and the Girl" Hit at Majestic with Tom Whiffen as Johnny Hicks

3,000 MEN BUSY
ON REMEY LEVEE

Flood Fighters Return to Work on Caving Dyke After Deserting It Last Night

With Tom Whiffen shining as Happy Johnny Hicks, the gambler, and Miss Jessie Houston as the girl, the famous musical comedy, "The Time, Place and the Girl," opened for a three day stay at the Majestic last night. The piece has been shortened to fit the requirements of tabloid musical comedy, but all of the lively parts and catchy songs have been left, so that the show has a snap to it that exceeds the average tabloid musical show.

Tom Whiffen was the bright light of the company. The familiar role of the happy-go-lucky gambler fitted him like a glove. The rest of the cast, especially Miss Houston, was capable and pleasing. The chorus sang and danced with plenty of vim. The company went through the show with speed and dash, never even waiting for encores, although the audience repeatedly applauded insistently in an effort to call back some of the singers. Between the acts there were attractive specialties, the best being a humorous monologue by Mr. Whiffen.

CHIEFS OPPOSE LAW

MADISON, Wis., April 25.—(Special.)—The bill to abrogate the provisions of the present law which permits police officers to be selected by civil service was opposed by chiefs of police before the assembly committee on municipalities yesterday afternoon. The bill proposes to give this power to the mayor in cities of the second and third and fourth class. The measure was opposed by Henry C. Baker, chief of police at Racine and by Thomas Shaughnessy, chief of police at Madison. Both men claimed that it would put the departments out of touch with the chief and would rob them of the control they should have.

SCHOOL STRIKE DWINDES

PITTSBURGH, Pa., April 25.—A Pennsylvania law providing that parents of truant children may be fined two dollars a day for absence of their children without cause may end the school strike. Hundreds of children returned to school when a report was spread that their parents would be taken before a judge and fined two dollars for each day's absence of each child.

SIGNS HIGH SCHOOL PITCHER

NEW YORK, April 25.—Manager Dahlen of the Brooklyn Dodgers, has signed a schoolboy pitcher from the Xavier high school. Phelan is but 21 years old and stands six feet one inch.

REMEY, La., April 25.—At dawn today 3,000 men who deserted the caving levee at 2 o'clock this morning, while a thunderstorm raged, returned to work and although the situation is critical, the embankment is still holding. Three boats with hundreds of thousands of sacks of sand are being rushed to the scene. A corps of government and state engineers are directing the fight to save the levee.

Had the break come last night before the men stamped hundreds of miles would have been lost. However, the eight vessels expected here by noon will amply accommodate all the flood fighters should they be forced to flee.

PAT CROWE UNDER KNIFE AT HOSPITAL

Has Tumor Removed by County Physician Flynn Today; Is Rapidly Recovering

WOULD KIDNAP MR. ROCKEFELLER

Has Great Scheme to Get Rich Quick by Stealing Great Oil Magnate

Pat Crowe, the man who kidnaped the Cudahy boy several years ago and who is now waiting trial at the May term of circuit court on a charge of burglary, was operated on this morning at the St. Francis hospital by County Physician Robert E. Flynn for a tumor. The operation was successful and Crowe is resting easily under guard at the hospital.

He had been complaining several days with a severe pain in his back and when finally taken to the hospital it was found that a large cystic tumor had developed just above one hip on his back. The operation was performed and according to Dr. Flynn no serious developments are expected. Crowe conversed freely with the physician and attendants during the operation. He declared that he is forever through with the life of crime and that hereafter he intends to stick to the straight and narrow path.

Talking to Sheriff John Weber the other day he said that he had but one temptation in the criminal line. He said that he would like to kidnap John D. Rockefeller before he "cashed in." He followed this statement with a most remarkable description of the Rockefeller home. He said he knew where every guard and watchman was stationed and knew just how to get in and if the right opportunity presented itself he would like to carry away the great oil magnate and hold him for ransom. He illustrated his description with a diagram of the Rockefeller home.

"If I got away with Rockefeller," he said, "they could not find me and I could force a pretty penny out of his son." Crowe's eyes glistened with excitement as he spoke about his latest kidnaping "pipe dream."

APPROVE VINT BILL

MADISON, Wis., April 25.—(Special.)—The committee on elections has voted to recommend the Vint bill providing for the recall of members of important state commissions for passage. The bill comes before the legislature in the form of a substitute, which permits the recall of a commissioner by a majority vote of all members elected to the legislature in both houses. It also provides that upon a petition signed by at least twenty per cent of the people who voted for governor at the last general election, that the question of the recall of a commissioner may be submitted to the people for a decision. A few technical changes in the Dunn coupon ballot, provided by the Kneen bill, were also approved.

AMBASSADOR SAD AT LEAVING U. S.

Hon. James Bryce Bids Farewell to Colleagues in Washington Today

HAS BEEN INTERNATIONAL FIGURE

Has Been in Public Life from Youth Until His Seventy-fifth Year

WASHINGTON, April 25.—The Hon. James Bryce, British ambassador, 75 years young, said farewell to Washington today and started back to England to take up the literary labors he dropped in 1907 when his government detailed him to the United States to settle some vexing international disputes.

The ambassador's ruddy face, framed in his aureole of white whiskers, was solemn as he said good-bye to diplomats and national officials who made a little fete in the union depot bidding God speed.

"You're a wonderful country and a wonderful government," he said. "I am leaving it perhaps for the last time. Naturally it makes a man feel sad. I am going back to my home in Sussex, where I will complete a work on Australia and possibly further revise my History of American Government—'who knows?' And the ambassador laughed happily at his wife.

With Bryce's departure, one of the noted characters in international life steps from the stage of events. In his long career, and he began to be a public figure at 21—he has been a scholar, author of books on subjects ranging from botany, natural and political history to international jurisprudence, diplomat and college professor. Countless degrees and membership titles to learned organizations have been showered on him.

Through all his successes, he has remained plain James Bryce. Although he was for a long time a member of the British cabinet, chief secretary for Ireland, and a chancellor and was offered title by the government, he refused it, preferring to remain a commoner.

The ambassador will attend two dinners in New York, sailing early next week for England. His successor, Sir Cecil Spring Rice, is due in New York Saturday.

LIMIT STATE RIGHT TO SETTLE RATES

Commerce Court Holds that Railroad Commissions Cannot Impede Commerce

WASHINGTON, April 25.—The commerce court today handed down its decision in the so-called Shreveport cases, holding in brief that no state may by its states rates impede interstate commerce from other states or protect its own shippers against outside competition.

On complaint of the railroad commission of Louisiana that the Texas state commission had imposed high interstate rates on commodities shipped by Louisiana competitors, obviously designed to give Texas shippers an advantage, the interstate commerce commission recently ruled in favor of the complainant. The Texas commission appealed to the commerce court for a reversal of the commission's order.

In announcing the court's decision today, Presiding Judge Knapp held that the action of the Texas commission resulted in a violation of the undue preference section of the federal act regulating commerce.

ALERT TAKES BARGES DOWN

DEATH LIST MAY BE AS HIGH AS 120

Work of Rescue Slow Because of Fresh Fire Broken Out in Mine

FIFTY-TWO BODIES RECOVERED

Rushed to Monongahela City Where Crowds Wait to Identify Relatives

FINLEYVILLE, Pa., April 25.—With company officials refusing to give out any information and fire reported broken out in the Cincinnati mine, which may yet contain entombed miners who are alive, the death list from Wednesday's explosion was still estimated around 100 early today, many placing it as high as 120.

Fire Prevents Progress
Work of rescue and ventilation progressed more slowly as rescuers pushed further into the mine and it was said today that it would probably be a week before all parts of the old mine are reached. Among the grief-stricken watchers fear grew that the second fire reported in the mine would make it impossible to recover the bodies of many of the dead.

That the mine was known to be gaseous, yet an order requiring the use of safety lamps in certain portions of the mine was rescinded only last Monday, is charged. Coroner James Heffron has empaneled a jury to investigate the cause of their explosion and state mine inspectors will also report. The refusal of the company to give out information has caused much criticism and has led members of the stricken families to charge negligence on the part of the company.

Fifty-two Bodies Found

MONONGAHELA CITY, Pa., April 25.—Thirty-three additional bodies arrived here early today from the Cincinnati mine making the total dead recovered fifty-two. Wrapped in burlap the forms of the victims were carried from the box cars and placed in long rows in an improvised morgue, where hundreds of women and children had watched dried throughout the night.

Fifty undertakers worked over the bodies in the morgue today and a notice was posted stating that no identifications would be allowed until one o'clock today. The anxious relatives were forced to continue their wait throughout the morning while the bodies were embalmed and prepared for burial.

Among the watchers was Mrs. William Worke, who tried to find the body of her husband among those brought here today. The woman is about to become a mother. She has six children.

Start Probe at Once

Thorough probe into the causes of the Cincinnati mine disaster, which probably cost the lives of 100 miners, fifty-two of whom have been removed from the mine dead, was assured today when four district forces began to take the wheels in motion. Coroner James Heffron empaneled a jury which was instructed to make a thorough investigation; state mine inspectors continued their investigation; state mine inspectors continued their investigations; federal officials of the bureau of mines were on the ground and United Mine workers officials refused entrance to the mine today, pledged themselves to force a thorough probe and publicity.

Complaint among the families of the victims of the explosion became more insistent today that the mine officials knew the mine was dangerous.

PROPOSES BALL PROBE

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Fresh fuel to his fire against the alleged "baseball trust" was added today by Representative Gallagher of Illinois, who has introduced a resolution in the house proposing investigation of the alleged "conspiracy" by a special house committee and the attorney general.

"I will attempt today to interview members of the house rules committee," said Gallagher, "to learn if my resolution will be considered by the body in the near future and whether the committee will give hearings in support of it. Of course, action is impossible until the tariff is disposed of by the house."

BELOIT MAN HEAD

BERLIN, April 25.—The German war office today issued an order forbidding army officers from engaging in any official or private balloon flights that would carry them near the French frontier.

BLACK UNWILLING PAYS LARGE FINE

CHICAGO, April 25.—Uncle Sam had the big laugh today and the open-mouthed smile that once adorned the countenance of Jack Johnson, black pugilist, was missing. Johnson, after twenty hours' delay and some protest, paid into the federal treasury $1,740, fine and costs in the smuggling charge on which he was tried before Judge Carpenter.

The big negro flashed a check for $1,000, the amount of his fine he first appeared at the federal building.

"Seven hundred and forty dollars more," said the clerk.

"What for?" demanded the negro.

"The judge said only a thousand."

"Costs," was the answer.

Johnson tucked the $1,000 check back in his pocket and told the clerk he was going to see if he couldn't compromise with the government. Today he "came across."

CALL OF HOUSE ON MARY ANN LAW

Combination Against Progressive Republicans Fails to Pass the Roessler Bill

ONLY SUCCEED IN TABLING IT

Parliamentary Battle Ensues Which May Be Resumed when Affair Comes Up Again

MADISON, Wis., April 25.—A combination of democrats, social democrats and stalwart republicans howled over the progressive republicans in the assembly yesterday and again and again rode roughshod over them in striving to pass the Roessler bill for the repeal of the second choice provision in the primary election law. For a time all went merrily with them, but instead of rushing the bill to passage under suspension they had to be content with seeing the bill laid on the table. A later attempt will be made to take the measure up. The proceedings, were marked with much uproar and recrimination, varied by a call of the house and other unusual features. Mr. Mahon led the fight for the second choice. Mr. Roessler that for its repeal.

Voted to Engrossment

The bill was on the calendar for indefinite postponement, but Mr. Roessler made a brief argument for it and indefinite postponement was refused by a vote of 33 to 53. Then by a vote of 51 to 43 the bill went to engrossment.

When Mr. Roessler moved reconsideration, Mr. Mahon moved a call of the house and the call was ordered.

The roll call disclosed that Messrs. Krueger, Peavey and Potts were absent without leave. Mr. Rosa moved adjournment and amid great confusion this proceeded.

The motion to adjourn was defeated 40 to 53. On motion of Mr. Vint the call was raised by a vote of 32 to 40.

Tabled by One Vote

The question of reconsideration of the bill then came up and Mr. Mahon moved to table the motion for reconsideration. The motion carried by the close vote of 48 to 47. Speaker Hull then ruled that the Mahon motion carried the bill with it to the table and Mr. Roessler appealed from the decision of the chair. The chair was sustained by a vote of 35 to 39.

Then Mr. Roessler moved that the bill be taken from the table. After much desultory skirmishing a roll call was finally obtained and the motion was defeated by a vote of 45 to 50.

HUNT DIETZ SLAYER

CHICAGO, April 25.—Three detectives—one in Omaha, Neb., one in Milwaukee and one in a Michigan city, the names of which Coroner Hoffman will not make public—are today trailing clues that may uncover the murderer of George Dietz, a wealthy tailor, who was beaten to death with a blacksmith's hammer on the morning of April 14.

The detectives are trying to find the man who bought the hammer used to crush the tailor's skull.

TY COBB SIGNS YEAR CONTRACT WITH THE TIGERS

DETROIT, Mich., April 25.—Ty Cobb this afternoon signed a one year contract calling for his services as a member of the Detroit Tigers for the season of 1913. The Georgian put his name to the papers after a conference with President Navin, thus ending the most talked of holdout case in the history of organized baseball. What salary Cobb will receive was not announced and neither of his principals would make any statement to shed light upon the matter.

SOLOMON GIVES SELF EXAM ON TARIFF

Representative Moore Has House Clerk Read Questions and He Gives Answers

TAKES FLING AT THE PRESIDENT

Scores Wilson for Passing Over Precedents, and Bemoans Tariff Reform

WASHINGTON, April 25.—A tariff "catechism" was the unique speech-making stunt staged today in the house by Representative J. Hampton Moore, Pennsylvania. Moore had the house clerk read questions (prepared by Moore). The Pennsylvania answered the questions, calling his tariff exposition "the tariff primer."

Moore began his cross-question tariff speech with an explanation of what he designated as the "stop, look and listen," example set by President Wilson in making an address from the "throne" of the house when the special session of congress convened. Moore said the president then "passed the dull routine of a century and returned to the more or less monarchical but presumably Jeffersonian methods of Washington or Adams in an age somewhat iconoclastic, when froth passes for substance and audacity for truth, when satiated mortals with easy money, weary of workshops and markets and yearning for novelty and sensation have compelled a sitting up and taking notice on the tariff question."

Has Tariff Quiz

"When was the first tariff passed?" the clerk quizzed Moore.

"It was approved by President Washington July 4, 1789," Moore answered in his best schoolboy accent.

"Did it encourage American manufactures?" the clerk droned.

"It gave confidence and hope and made us a manufacturing and agricultural nation," Moore, the pupil, recited.

The questions and answers traced tariff legislation from ancient to modern times.

"Why was the Payne bill passed?" Moore was asked.

"Because the democrats were continually misrepresenting the tariff question," was the answer.

"Did it revise the tariff downward?"

"It did, and equalized many duties."

"If the people enjoyed such wonderful progress under the Payne law, why did they complain?"

Listened to Kickers
"The listened to ambitious politicians, agitators without conscience, journalistic organs with axes to grind, magazines seeking essays who found it more profitable to write fiction than to work, theoretical college professors, non-producers and a few sincere reformers usually misinformed and frequently misled."

"The bill introduced by Chairman Underwood, exponent in the house of the theories of President Wilson," was Moore's fling at the administration.

Representative Loebeck, Nebraska democrat, broke into Moore's personally conducted tariff "school" by suddenly arising and shaking his hand, with one finger extended at Chairman Garrett.

"For what purpose does the gentleman from Nebraska arise?" asked Garrett.

"Please, Teacher, may I go out?" Loebeck asked, while the house reverberated with laughter.

Defense of President Wilson for his alleged "meddling" in tariff framing at the capitol opened the tariff battle of debate today in the house. Representative A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania, so-called spokesman for the president in the house and original "Wilson man," was the executive's defender.

"I view with equanimity," said Palmer, "the so-called invasion of the rights of the legislative branch of the government by the executive in framing this bill. The co-operation gives promise of prompt consideration of a well settled program and foreshadows hearty support of the bill by the great leaders of our party in public station and private life."

That the democratic party is pledged not to injure any legitimate business was asserted by Representative Palmer.

$40,000 TORNADO AID

WASHINGTON, April 25.—The Red Cross today wired $40,000 to Lillian B. Stiffin to be used in the relief of Omaha tornado sufferers. The amount was sent after appeals had been received from Senator Hitchcock of Omaha and the Chicago chamber of commerce, who telegraphed that it had wired $10,000 to assist in rehabilitation work.

EXPLOSION ON IMPERATOR

HAMBURG, April 25.—It was said today that the Hamburg-American giant liner was not injured by an explosion reported aboard the liner late yesterday. The story was that several cans of petrol blew up because of careless handling and eight men were injured.

TEACH POLICEMEN MANNERS IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, April 25.—Besides being strong and courageous, Chicago policemen are to be trained in politeness and in the future the fair damsels who accost a copper in the Windy City will not only receive courteous answers, but will also be honored with a neat bow, if the policeman isn't too fat.

Major M. L. C. Funkhouser, second deputy superintendent, has added the study of politeness to the curriculum of his police training school. No matter what the foolish questions may be, the policemen are instructed to return civil answers. The process to be followed, as explained to the bluecoats, is as follows:

The sightseer at a busy corner inquires, "Could you tell me when the first white child was born in Chicago?"

"It grieves me, Madam," answers the policeman, "but I cannot tell you, as I was not on duty at that time."

DENIES ARCADIA IS UNDER QUARANTINE

Story of Dreadful Attack of Scarlet Fever Is Scouted in Toto by Doctor

FEW CASES OF SPOTTED FEVER

Three or Four Deaths in the Last Two Months Basis for a Wild Tale of Big Epidemic

A story depicting in graphic terms an epidemic of scarlet fever paralyzing the village of Arcadia, sent out to many papers all over the state today from Milwaukee, was vigorously denied by Dr. J. H. Palmer of Arcadia this afternoon. The story Dr. Palmer denied was as follows:

"ARCADIA, Wis., April 24.—Arcadia is not living up to its name, for an epidemic of scarlet fever has caused the issuance of the most stringent regulations for quarantine ever known in a Wisconsin city. The mayor's order prohibits any person under 21 years of age from going on the streets, and schools and churches are ordered closed for three weeks."

"Business is at a standstill and many stories and markets have closed until the disease is stamped out. Half of the houses of the city are under quarantine and even outgoing mail is being fumigated."

"There is no such condition of affairs," Dr. Palmer said. "We have had three or four deaths in the last two months from the source, and there are only about three cases in the village at the present time. Also, it is not scarlet fever, but cerebrospinal fever, or 'spotted fever.' The business of the town is progressing as usual and the tale that the churches have been closed is a fake. The schools were ordered closed by the mayor yesterday, following the death of Martval Ferdig, 15, son of J. M. Ferdig, a prominent merchant."

The closing was only ordered that fumigation might take place, and the schools will be re-opened Monday."

Dr. Palmer said there were two deaths Tuesday—the Ferdig boy and the three year old daughter of Robert Tedder. He said there were also a few scattered cases of the disease in the country surrounding, but nothing that could be called an epidemic.

AGED WOMAN HIT BY MILK WAGON

Mrs. Martha Lepsch Seriously Hurt when Team of Mules Steps Upon Her

Mrs. Anna Lepsch, aged 76, is seriously ill at the home of her son, Matthew Lepsch, 1422 South Seventh street, as the result of being knocked down and stepped upon by mules pulling a milk wagon of the Hygienic Dairy company on Wednesday morning. Owing to Mrs. Lepsch's advanced age, Dr. J. L. Callahan, who attended her, is worried over her condition.

The aged woman suffered no broken bones, but was seriously bruised on the legs, chest and arms. All the contusions are swollen and painful today.

The accident happened as Mrs. Lepsch was crossing the street at Thirteenth and Jackson streets. Walter Lund, the driver of the milk wagon, was standing upon the step, sorting milk bottles inside and the mules were going at a brisk pace. The driver did not notice Mrs. Lepsch until he heard her scream as the mules struck her. He stopped the team at once, but too late to prevent the animals from stepping on the woman.

Bystanders picked Mrs. Lepsch up, and carried her to the home of her son-in-law, Frank Smolek, 1229 South Thirteenth, whence she was later removed to her home.

STATE BANK TO OPEN NEW HOME MONDAY MORNING

Will Move Possessions to State Bank Building, Corner Fourth and Main Streets, Tomorrow

LARGER QUARTERS NECESSARY

Counting Room Finished and Furnished in Mahogany, Marble and Bronze

BEST LOCATION IN THE CITY

Every Convenience of Modern Invention Provided for Patrons and Bank Employees

The State Bank of La Crosse will open for business Monday morning in its new quarters in the MacMillan building, or as it will be known hereafter the State Bank building, on the northeast corner of Fourth and Main streets. All of the bank's books, moneys, papers and other possessions will be moved tomorrow so that all may be in readiness for the turning of a new page in its history Monday.

There will be no inaugural ceremonies or dedication speeches. The smiling cheerfulness of the men who have built and developed the institution and the employees who have aided them in their work will be a little more noticeable perhaps, but the change will be made without formality. An abundance of flowers will add to the general beauty of the rooms.

The officers and employees of the bank will have good reason to smile for their new home, 44 feet by 70 feet, is the last word in comfort and convenience. Equipped with all the modern appliances for ventilation, heat and light, it is an ideal place to work. The big plate glass windows on the east and south exposures flood the counting rooms with light. The height of the cream colored ceiling and immaculate white marble floor give a sense of room and comfort. The main counting room is finished in marble, bronze and mahogany. The desks, counters and chairs and other furniture are all of polished mahogany. The cages are wrought of bronze. There are six cages and eight wickets.

Mahogany and Marble
The wainscoting is paneled with white marble, bordered at the bottom with a broad band of green marble. The electric chandeliers are swung from the ceiling by bronze chains. A private office finished and luxuriously furnished in dark polished mahogany and leather will be placed at the disposal of the friends and customers of the bank. It is large enough to accommodate fifteen or twenty persons at a time. Coupon booths were also installed for the convenience of customers who may wish to look over papers or documents in private. A waiting room in natural mahogany is devoted to the exclusive service of the ladies and it is one of the prettiest nooks in the bank. This is adjoined by a telephone booth where both local and long distance wires are at the disposal of the bank customers. The directors' room, in the back of the building, is finished in Old English oak and is severely serviceable.

The Vault
The one piece of equipment of which the officers and employees of the bank are most proud, is the huge apartment vault which has been built into the north end of the building. Three seven and a half ton doors, fitting with a nicety that would be a credit to a watch, equipped with intricate time locking devices as near burglar proof as the inventive ingenuity of man can make them, guard the compartments from fire and burglary. One large room in the vault is devoted exclusively to safety deposit boxes which will be rented to the customers of the bank and another steel and concrete dungeon will hold the moneys of the depositors and the other funds of the bank. The books are kept in yet another department while a storage vault for papers, files and records is located in the basement floor of the vault. The vault was installed by the Diebold Safe and Lock company of Canton, Ohio, under the active supervision of Thomas Barney.

The working department of the bank is located on the west side allowing the employees to work with their backs to the light and it faces a spacious rotunda or lobby which opens off the entrance on Main street. A large marble stand in the center of the lobby furnishes a convenient desk for the use of patrons. The outside improvements have added materially to the appearance of the entire building. The large windows are framed in copper and those on the west side are protected by scrolled iron work, installed by Henry A. Trepte. The west entrance is also furnished with scrolled iron gates.

Watching The Scoreboard

Regular old fashioned July or August baseball with Boston and Brooklyn going twelve innings for a decision. Allen allowed only eight hits, just one more than James, but that one brought in the single run of the game that gave Boston the edge. Seven straight now for the Giants and with the entire pitching staff in laptop form they threaten to run wild. If Manager Huggins of the Cardinals had any more pitchers to spare he might have used them against the Cincinnati Reds, but with fourteen hits off five of them—what's the use?

The New York Yankees scored one run off Bender with nine singles, a double and a triple, while the Athletics scored four runs on five hits. Detroit lost again, but Crawford contributed a home run and Bush stole three bases without Ty Cobb. Three triples in four times up, generally considered a day's work, is the offering of Williams of the St. Louis Browns. To top it off he looked after his garden in good shape and St. Louis won.

Mr. Groom of Washington probably now recalls that baseball games are not over until the end of the ninth. One run behind in the ninth, the Boston Red Sox hit safely four times and scored as many runs, which was enough.

WILL BOX FREE BOUT FOR SOLONS

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 25.—Packey McFarland, Billy Papke, Johnny Coulon and several lesser lights among Illinois fighters will work up perspiration with no gate receipts in view, in a boxing exhibition to be staged here next week for the purpose of convincing Illinois legislators that the bill for a state boxing commission is meritorious. Gov. Dunne, Lieut.-Gov. O'Hara, Speaker McKinley, and a number of legislative leaders have been promised seats at the ringside. If there is a dearth of men for the prelims, Representative George C. Hilton will go on for a couple of rounds. Hilton and Senator P. J. Carroll, backers of the boxing bill, are making the arrangements.

URGES HOUSE BOYCOTT

LONDON, April 25.—A burned dinner has far more value for convincing Englishmen that something is wrong, than merely a burned villa," says a letter from Frau Duerrin, prominent German suffragist of Nuremberg, advising the British militants to adopt the "household boycott," which was made public today by the women's social and political union.

"The household boycott means refusal by the women to perform household duties," Frau Duerrin explained. "You English women should drop militancy and adopt this plan. It would be far more effective. I would even neglect the children to make the men dress themselves."

CARDIFF, April 25.—A ten-inch canister, filled with dynamite, the fuse of which had burned to within half an inch of the explosive, was found early today on the steps of Lloyd's bank.

"Votes for Women" was inscribed on the side of the cylinder, but the police were in doubt whether the bomb was the work of militant suffragettes or of anti-suffragists, seeking to discredit the women.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Brooklyn 0; Boston 1
BOSTON, April 25.—A nerve racking and runless tie in the Brooklyn-Boston game that had lasted twelve innings yesterday was broken by Rariden, the brave pinch hitter, who batted in the only run of the contest after two men were out. That both teams were on their mettle, is shown by the fact that only one man reached first on error. Score:

Boston . . . 000000000001—1 7 1

New York 7; Philadelphia 1
NEW YORK, April 25.—It required only the first two innings of yesterday's game for the Giants to accomplish the ruin of a Philly pitcher and win the contest. Four runs were scored off Moore in the first inning and when in the second Schaefer's home run clout brought in three more, the twirler was hastily yanked. Score:

Philadelphia 4; New York 1
PHILADELPHIA, April 25.—Although the Yanks batted Bender freely yesterday, a couple of costly misplays and clever base running gave the Athletics the game, 4 to 1. Schultz was booked by Chance to duplicate Keating's feat of Wednesday and he pitched good ball throughout the game, but his team mates were not there with the punch. Score:

ICE CREAM SUITS FOR THE UMPIRES

CHICAGO, April 25.—Ice cream trousers, coats to match and snow-white shoes will cover the forms of such notables as "Silk" O'Loughlin, Billy Evans and other American league umpires on certain special occasions during the summer. President Ban B. Johnson announced today.

The umpires have been measured. They will don white flannels when President Wilson occupies a box, when any league magnate designates a big day at his park and on all extraordinary occasions. Frank Chance day at Comiskey's park, May 17, will give the fans the first peep at the creamy dude.

The men who don't go to jail are either too good, or too rich. "Love knows no law," quoted the wise guy. "How about the mother-in-law?" demanded the simple mus. It's all right to take time by the forelock, but don't try to snatch him baldheaded.

ZBYSKO BOUT LOSS

CHICAGO, April 25.—Officers of the Globe Athletic club who staged the Zbyszko-LeMarin wrestling bout at the Coliseum Wednesday night, figured today that they were $2,000 behind the game. They attribute the loss to rumors that the match was not to be on the square.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

Rosa Bonheur Wasn't Afraid Of Lions.

Nero Was the Favorite Lion.

JACK liked to tease his sister. This generally made Evelyn cross. She was crosser than usual because Jack had been bragging that when he grew up he meant to go and hunt lions; but, being a girl, she never could go.

"I wouldn't want to go," Evelyn replied. "When I'm grown up I shall have something better to do than to go about killing things."

"I hope so, too," daddy said. "I think it would be a great deal finer than hunting lions to make pets of them and paint them, as Rosa Bonheur did."

Rosa loved animals and when she was a small girl was so fond of them that every one spoke of it. Whenever she had a chance she could be seen with pencil and paper busily making sketches of her pets.

"When she was old enough to study painting she did so. While her artist friends would be making pictures of people or of the scenery Rosa would be off to the zoo or wherever she could find a fine animal to paint."

"Of course any one who worked as hard as Rosa Bonheur did got along. Her pictures of animals were much admired and sold for a great deal of money. One of her pictures, called 'The Horse Fair,' won her a high honor. She soon had plenty of money and bought a fine home near Paris. There she had a garden in which she could keep many strange pets."

"Lions, which she loved to paint, were among these. At different times she had several pet lions which were so tame that they would follow her about like great cats."

"Nero was the favorite lion. When she patted his head Nero would purr like a cat and try to lick her hand."

"It happened, though, that Miss Bonheur had to leave her home for a time, and, thinking Nero would be better cared for at the Garden of Plants, in Paris, where there were many wild beasts, she took him there."

"The keepers put the lion into a cage, but he was not so well cared for as he had been in Rosa Bonheur's garden, and so he became sick and blind. He would lie in his cage, paying no attention to any one."

"One day as he lay thus a voice called 'Nero!' The lion sprang to his feet. Well he knew the voice of his loved mistress, and he hurt himself in dashing against the bars of his cage trying to reach her."

"You will be glad to know that Miss Bonheur took this noble animal home again and petted and cared for him until he died."

"Poor Nero died at the foot of her great staircase, up which he tried to crawl in order to be near his dear mistress as he breathed his last. Yes! I would rather be clever enough to teach even wild animals to love me, as Rosa Bonheur did, than to go out and hunt and kill them."

IT IS MEET THAT WE EAT MEAT

To us who love meat and fear that we eat too much of it there has come a boon of knowledge which, in a spirit of generosity, we hasten to hand
on to our devoted and probably hungry friends of the vegetarian persuasion. We found it in a learned scientific document which distant be it from us to question by quest of corroboration. Shunning the possibly skeptical physicians of La Crosse, we swallow it whole—with the gravy—
and from the housepots do thus proclaim our summary of these glad tidings of great joy:

Matter on this earth goes through various forms and transformations,
each of which leads up to another,
the whole series culminating in man.

Each step in nature's process of development is a step toward condensation. This applies with especial force to the process of feeding.

Yonder is a mountain, consisting mainly of granite. We can't eat the granite, and enjoy the simple food which nature thus provides in abundant.

The frost cracks the granite, the hot sun crumbles it into dust, the rain washes the dust down into the valley, the earth-worm chews it up and transforms it into soil, and we have a fertile plain. But we don't eat yet. If man ate 40 tons of the soil he would not get enough nourishment out of it to sustain him for a day, and his stomach holds only about a quart.

The winds and the birds bring seeds. Grass and herbs and flowers grow in the valley, and we have vegetation. But don't be too eager to eat;
don't swallow the grass and daisies.

On the grassy plain appears a cow.
Kind nature has fixed her up on a plan that makes vegetarianism possible and agreeable. She has two stomachs and marvelous muscles in her jaws, and when she is not biting
off grass she is chewing her cud.
She spends 16 hours a day chewing grass into digestibility.

It is only when the cow, or the sheep, or the grouse, or the hare, or the deer has eaten the grass and seeds, transforming a hundred pounds of vegetable matter into one pound of flesh, that man finds his properly condensed and easily digested food. The poor cow has been six years building up a beefsteak out of grass, and man in 15 minutes of beefsteak chewing gets the benefit of tons of grass that he could not possibly have digested.

No doubt, in time, science, through chemistry, will enable men to nourish themselves properly without the unpleasant features of meat eating.
Until that time comes we must avail ourselves of nature's chemical process and accept gratefully, in the form of meat, the hillside which has gone through the varied processes of disintegration and condensation.

JUDGE RICHARDS
A MAN OF HONOR

Judge R. A. Richards, newly elected to the bench of Monroe county, was recently mentioned in a news letter from Sparta as one "said to have assisted in distributing anti-progressive and anti-LaFollette funds in the county since things began to divide on that basis." Other things were said in the letter of which the purpose seemed to be to identify Judge Richards with the standpoint element of his party.

Judge Richards objects to the entire article, but particularly to that portion of it which refers to the distribution of funds in the stalwart cause.

To those who know Judge Richards it need not be said that an insultation that he would lend himself to the illicit use of money in politics
would be a grave injustice, and to those who have not the pleasure of his acquaintance we are glad to make positive declaration to that effect.
Only recently has there been any legal restriction upon the use of money along the lines of paying precinct workers, extensive advertising, entertainment and a variety of political methods, and in the days to which the Sparta letter made reference all factions of all parties, by or for their candidates, did so. We have no personal knowledge as to whether Judge Richards was one of the men to whom was intrusted the finances of campaigns in his county, but that he was, if that be the fact, carries with it no stigma. A clean man and a strong lawyer, who will prove an efficient jurist, Judge Richards needs

no defense, but we make this statement lest some stranger to his Honor misinterpret a writing the intent of which evidently was to show that the extreme wings of the two factions in the republican party were coming together in a way to suggest,
in the near future, a new era of party solidarity.

A LONG STRIDE IN
THE RIGHT DIRECTION

Mayor Sorensen has done for the country immediately surrounding La Crosse exactly what any citizen might have done at any time during the last four years and up to the present moment for the city of La Crosse—he has asked the governor of the state to compel the proper county officers to enforce the laws relative to public vice.

The public has it from Mayor Sorensen's own statement that there are within the city limits of La Crosse thirty-two places devoted to vice in violation of existing law, but in the telegram by the publication of which the coming of the law was tipped off to the county officers His Honor neglected to say whether he had asked the governor to compel the proper city officers to enforce the law therein.

It might have been right, as a matter of courtesy, for the mayor to have consulted Mr. Law as to whether he had in mind measures for the enforcement of the statutes, especially as the new district attorney has not long been in office, and has been unusually busy. However, the appeal to the governor probably means a clean-up in the country, and notwithstanding the optimism of the city "Interests" who see in the mayor's action relief from the hardship
of having a monopoly in this attractive "business" enjoyed by the road-houses, we feel that it is but the first step in the first bona-fide "house
cleaning" the city has had since Dr.
Wendell A. Anderson gave that interesting little order (in writing) to Chief Weber, and served notice on a number of mercenary persons that ten days would be granted them in which to make themselves scarce.

SENTIMENT VS.
PUBLIC HEALTH

Without intention to reflect an opinion as to the merits of any particular case we are constrained to suggest that citizens drawn for jury duty in cases affecting the public health should eliminate all sentiment in handling them. It is not that anyone enjoys the news that a citizen has been fined, but that unless fines
are imposed men dealing in food products will persist in that careless or deliberate uncleanness which is a menace to the health of patrons, and by contagion or infection, of every person in the community. Should any jurymen who by voting to acquit had encouraged unsanitary conditions in dairies, bakeries and the like, thereafter witness an epidemic of disease
traceable to the man whom his vote
had invited to continue filthy habits,
the resulting deaths might weigh upon his conscience. A jurymen is an officer sworn to uphold the law, and if he indulges in weak sentimentality
at the expense of the public safety
he takes indefensible liberties
with the rights of his neighbors.

The really undesirable citizen is he who lives in the United States and keeps his family in another country
on the fruits of his labor here.

A California man has had his last will and testament tattered on his back. Too many codicils may prove embarrassing.

King Alfonso was, according to reports, injured in the sunken garden.
Doctors have not stated whether that is a vital spot.

Modern newspapers are getting so conservative that they won't even allow a little imagination in their advertisements.

They have not tried to feed Mrs.
Pankhurst forcibly. There is no use in wasting food when it is so high.

A Chicago person announces that erring women may be reformed by corsets. Sure. Re-formed.

Improving on Nature Perhaps you've never stopped to think how handy it would really be
If every woman had three arms instead of two, for then, you

She wouldn't have to miss a stroke
of work, because the maiden

Would have a needed extra hand to

Two-headed politicians would at

'Twould solve a knotty problem and there's not the slightest doubt of it.
The time at banquets is so short it's hard to make the job com-

But then one head could make the

could eat.

If folks who walk could just have wings 'twould really make this life worth while.
They wouldn't have to cross the

They'd have to dodge about no more
and they could thank their

That they had found a way at last

Why Memoirs are Tame
Prof. Barrett Wendell, at a Harvard tea, was asked why books of recollections were always so tame.
Prof. Wendell answered:
"Let me tell you a story. A great man once said to a friend:
"I think I'll write my recollections."
"Very good," said the friend; "but let me caution you not to recollect anything about celebrities that are living."
"Oh," said the great man, "living

Nothing takes the joy out of life like a weak stomach. Would you like to be able to enjoy the good things that others enjoy? Then take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for a short time and notice the difference in your stomach.

Back of your lack of appetite,
sourness of stomach, gas and nausea is bad blood. The food is lying in your stomach only partly digested and is fermenting because the stomach is weak. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills go deeper than a remedy that acts on the stomach alone. They get at the real cause, which is impure blood. They make it red and healthy. Where once
the sight of food was nauseating,
you will have a good appetite and
be able to eat without distress.

Mr. Albert Underwood, of Brookville, Ind., says: "I began to have stomach trouble while running down
in health and was sick for over two years. I could not eat anything without intense distress following.
There was a feeling like pressure on my stomach and gas formed after eating. I kept losing in strength and weight and had to give up working. After spending many dollars for medicines and getting no help, I tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They benefited me so much that I could eat without distress.
I kept on taking them until I was well."

Unique Opportunity Neglected

the futurist cried.—New York Sun.

A Little Irony
Louis J. Horowitz is noted in New York for his trenchant wit. Thus, in the discussion of a recent contract,
certain rather niggardly proposals were made to him, and Mr. Horowitz rebutted their niggardliness with the quiet words:
"Only so much for a fifteen story building? Come, gentlemen, make it $5 more and we'll run you up a skyscraper that will overtop the highest."

Getting Even With Justice
The prisoner at the bar of the police court was sore over his treatment and could not conceal it wholly.
"If I should express my opinion of this court, your honor," he said
rising from his chair, "would you fine me for contempt?"
"I certainly should!" responded
the judge, decisively.

"Thank you," bowed the prisoner. "I wish to extend my congratulations to your honor and all those connected with the court for the very fair and impartial trial I have received at your hands."
The prisoner sat down and the judge was flabbergasted.

Not the Same
He had attended his partner's wedding and at the reception he stepped gallantly forward to pay his respects.
"I hardly feel like a stranger," he said, in his sweetest tones, addressing the bride. "In fact, I feel as though I ought to be well acquainted with my partner's wife, since he has so often done me the honor to read me extracts from his dear Susie's letters."

The faces of the husband and
speaker were studies as the bride drew herself up, and said, emphatically and distinctly:
"If he's your parson, sir, My name is Helen."

APPROVES PINERO STAND

CHICAGO, April 25.—Mrs. Fay
Pierce, sister-in-law of the late Theodore Thomas, of orchestra fame, and herself prominent in musical circles,
today rushed to the aid of Sir Arthur Wing Pinero, the dramatist, in his controversy with George Bernard Shaw, regarding the propriety of smoking at the theater or opera. "If it is necessary to have beer and smoking to get men to attend concerts, then beer and smoking should be allowed," said Mrs. Pierce.

IN THE WORLD
OF WOMEN

Four important places in the government of Kansas City are now filled by women. Miss Laura A.

deputy treasurers and Miss Beulah Beltz is city clerk.

Plans are being formulated for a unique exhibition to be held in England for the benefit of the National Society to Protect Children from Cruelty. The exhibit will illustrate children's toys, games, costumes and books of the centuries. Lady came an English peeress, is credited with originating the idea.

The Just and
The Unjust

By Vaughan Kester
The Prodigal Judge

Copyright, 1912, The Bohn-Merrill Company

The clock on the wall back of the judge's desk ticked off the seconds;
now it made itself heard in the hush
that stole over the room, again its message was lost in the confusion of sounds, the scraping of feet or the hum of idle talk. But whether the crowd was silent or noisy the clock performed its appointed task
until its big gilt hands told whoever cared to look that the jury in the John North case had devoted three hours to its verdict and its dinner.

The atmosphere of the place had become more and more oppressive.
Men nodded sleepily in their chairs,
conversation had almost ceased,
when suddenly and without any apparent reason Brockett swung about on his heel and faced the locked door. His whole expression betokened a feverish interest. The effect of this was immediate. A wave of suppressed excitement passed over the crowd; absolute silence followed; and the crowd beyond the door and distinctly audible in the stillness, came the sound of a quick step on the uncarpeted floor. The clock ticked twice, then a hand dealt the door a measured blow.

The moment of silence that followed this ominous signal was only broken when a deputy who had been nodding half asleep in his chair,
sprang erect and hurried from the room. As the swinging halve doors banged at his heels, the crowd
seemed to breathe again.

Moxlow was the first to arrive.
The deputy had found him munching a sandwich on the court-house steps. His entrance was unheeded
and his manner quietly confident;
he put aside his well-worn overcoat
and took his seat at the counsel table. A little ripple of respectful comment had greeted his appearance; this died away when the baird doors at the back of the room
swung open to admit North and the sheriff.

North's face was white, but he wore a look of high courage. He understood to the full the dreadful hazard of the next few moments.
With never a glance to the right or to the left, he crossed the room and took his seat; as he settled himself in his chair, Belknap hurried into court.

Judge Langham had not yet appeared, and the crowd focused its attention on the shut door leading into his private office. Presently this door was seen to open slowly,
and the judge's spare erect figure housed on the threshold. His eyes, dark, yet brilliant with a strange light, shifted from side to side as he glanced over the room.

Marshall Langham had not quitted his seat. There in his remote corner under the gallery, his blanched face framed by shadows, his father's glance found him. With his hand resting tremulously on the jamb of the door as if to steady
himself, the judge advanced a step.
Once more his eyes strayed in the direction of his son, and from the gloom of that dull corner which Marshall had made his own, despair and terror called aloud to him. His shaking hand dropped to his side,
and then like some pale ghost, he passed slowly before the eager eyes
that were following his every movement to his place behind the flat-topped desk on the raised dais.

As he sank into his chair he turned to the clerk of the court and there was a movement on his thin
lips, but no sound passed them.
Brockett guessed the order; he had wished to give, and the big key slid around in the old-fashioned lock of the jury-room door. Heavy-visaged and hesitating, the twelve men filed into court, and at sight of them
John North's heart seemed to die within his breast. He no longer hoped nor doubted, he knew their verdict—he was caught in some in-extricable web of circumstance! A monstrous injustice was about to be done him, and in the very name of justice itself!

The jurors, awkward in their self-consciousness, crossed the room
and, as intangible as it was potent,
a wave of horror went with them.
There was a noisy scraping of their chairs as they took their seats, and then a deathlike silence.

The clerk glanced up inquiringly
into the white face that was bent on him. A scarcely perceptible inclination of the head answered him,
and he turned to the jury.

"Gentlemen, have you arrived at a true verdict, and chosen one of your number to speak for you?" he asked.

Martin Howe, the first man in the front row of the two solemn lines of jurors, came awkwardly to his feet and said almost in a whisper:
"We have. We find the defendant guilty as charged in the indictment."

"Mr. Howe, do you find this man guilty as charged in the indictment?" asked the clerk.
"I do," responded the juror.

Twelve times the clerk of the court, calling each man by name,
asked this question, and one by one
the jurors stood up and answered:
"I do."

CHAPTER TWENTY-THREE.

The Last Appeal.

One raw morning late in April,
Mark Leonard, who worked at Kirby's lumber-yard, drove his team of big grade Percherons up to Kirby's office by the railroad tracks.

"What's doing?" he asked of Kirby's clerk.

The clerk handed him a slip of paper.

"Go round and tell Mitchell to get you out this load!" he said.
Leonard went off, whistling, with

The Doctor's Answers On Health and Beauty Questions

BY DR. LEWIS BAKER

The questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply to any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free,
may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Ellwood Sts., Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

"Mason" writes: "For years I have been taking medicine to cure constipation, liver trouble and the usual diseases that come from that source.
Headaches, salivary skin, kidney trouble, dark spots before my eyes, dizzy spells and twinges of rheumatism are getting worse."

Answer: Take three grain sulphur tablets (not sulphur). They are packed in sealed tubes with directions and are convenient, effective and highly curative for such ailments as arise from chronic constipation. If you are dyspeptic, also take tablets triopeptine.

"Mrs. A. D."—Incontinence of urine can be cured by using the following: Tincture cubeba 1 dram;
tincture thus aromatic 2 drams and comp. fluid balsamwort 1 oz. Give from 10 to 15 drops in water one hour before meals.

"OMA W." writes: "I have suffered with catarrh of the head for many years. This has become so bad that it has affected my blood, also my stomach and bowels to a very great extent. I shall appreciate an immediate answer as I suffer greatly."

Answer: I would advise you to purchase a 2 oz. package of Vilano powder; take one-half teaspoonful of the powder and add to this a pint of warm water, sniff the water from the nostrils several times a day. Make a catarrh balm by mixing one teaspoonful of powder with one ounce of vaseline, or lard will do, and apply as far up the nostrils as possible. For the stomach, bowels and blood—I would recommend the following tonic: Syrup sarsaparilla comp., 4 oz., comp.
fluid balsamwort 1 oz., and 1 oz. of fluid ext. hawthorn. Mix by shaking well in a bottle and take one teaspoonful after each meal and at bed time.

"Gloria" writes: "I would like you to prescribe a good hair and scalp treatment. I am bothered with itching scalp and dandruff. My hair is faded and falling and none of the remedies I have tried have done any permanent good."

Answer: Go to your druggist and obtain a 4 oz. jar of plain yellow Minol. Apply as per directions. This treatment differs from all and I have actually seen the astonishing transformations which result from its use. The dandruff and itching are cured with two or three applications,
while it makes the hair glossy, wavy
and full of intense natural color.

"Myrtle" writes: "Owing to my extreme thinness I am frequently embarrassed by slighting remarks of young people. Can you prescribe a safe remedy to increase my weight?"

Answer: I have so many gratifying reports from the users of three grain Hypo-Nuclane tablets, that I have become to regard these valuable little tablets as a specific and prescribe them to all who are aene-mic, thin, wasting, nervous and debilitated. I recommend that you begin their use at once and continue regularly until your system is able to assimilate the fatty elements of your food; then you will grow plump and have plenty of red blood, with color

in your complexion and bright sparkling eyes of health.

Kidney Trouble

Results Most Feared by Mankind

Ask any man or woman what disease they fear the most. If they think before replying, the answer will usually be Bright's Disease. Ask them why, they will tell you that kidney disease is most dreaded because of its tendency to advance from the early stages of the trouble to the dangerous, or fatal stage, generally before the sufferer realizes he or she is dangerously ill.

This fear and worry on the part of humanity is needless—for, if the cause is properly cared for—the effect is done away with. Nature has equipped humanity with an effective system of danger signals, so that if the warning of a peculiar lane back, torpid liver, cloudy urine, inflammation of the bladder, is heeded—relief can be speedily found in the use of

Hans Company Constructs Hydroplane for Detroit Race Fan; Expected to Break Records

What promises to be one of the fastest motor boats in the country when completed, is a thirty foot "V" bottom hydroplane that the Hans Motor and Equipment company is constructing for a resident of Detroit, Mich.

The boat will be built along the lines of the fastest racing boats that have been built, containing an 85 h. p. engine, with special racing bearings and crank shaft. A dual ignition system is being installed, which is expected to add another five horsepower to the boat.

When the company received the order, it did not at once accept it, as the firm was not in the past builders of motor boats. In manufacturing the boat, the company is competing with the manufacturers of the fastest boats ever built, but they state that they expect to outdo them, by putting out one of the fastest, if not the fastest boat in America.

They said to friends this morning, who saw them embark, that it was "Minneapolis or bust."

A SOUR, GASSY, UPSET STOMACH

"Pape's Diapepsin" overcomes your Indigestion in five minutes

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; your head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Diapepsin and in five minutes you truly will wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quick, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.

SPOTLIGHTS

THE PRICE

At the La Crosse Theater on tomorrow matinee and night, Clarence Bennett and company will present Edna Marshall, a distinguished emotional actress in a new modern drama by George Broadhurst entitled "The Price." This is a story of a conscience-stricken soul which takes one away back to "Camille" to find its equal in dramatic literature. A company of great excellence surrounds the star, who is said to have in Ethel Toscani a role which gives full sway to her remarkable talents.

BELLA DONNA

The coming engagement of Madame Nazimova is attracting a great deal of attention from theatergoers for the advance inquiry and the mail orders which have been received argue extremely well for most successful engagement. The role of Bella Donna, the title character in the play of the same name which Madame Nazimova portrays has been likened to the famous Borgis lady whom history says was an adept in the art of poisoning, but where Madame Nazimova was generally successful. Bella Donna falls. This engagement is certainly a treat for theatergoers who appreciate histrionic worth. Charles Frohman presents Madame Nazimova in "Bella Donna" at the La Crosse Theater Monday, April 28.

BRITONS POKE FUN AT "DRY" DINNERS

"Wishy-Washington" Title Given Capital as Sequel to Bryan's Grape Juice Feast

BLAME SECRETARY OF STATE

Declare Commoner Has No Right to Force Abstemious Ideas on His Guests

LONDON, April 25.—"Wishy-Washington" is apt to become the title of the capital of the United States during the Wilson administration, in the opinion of the Pall Mall Gazette, commenting on the grape juice dinner given by Secretary of State Bryan.

"Official life in Washington under the Wilson-Bryan regime holds out little prospect of gaiety," its editorial said today. "We fear that the capital of the great republic is destined to be known as 'Wishy-Washington.'"

International Incident. Bryan's dinner, in honor of the retiring British ambassador, has become unofficially an international incident by reason of it being served without wine.

Commenting seriously upon it, the Daily Express referred to Bryan's policy as "teetotal diplomacy" and said that as a state minister he had no right to enforce his abstemious ideas on his guests. The diplomats, said the Express, "had no choice, since to refuse the secretary's invitation would have involved them in the suspicion of international discourtesy." Bryan, said the editorial, had no right to do as secretary of state, what he could very well have done as a private citizen.

"We Should Worry." WASHINGTON, April 25.—"Grape Juice gaiety is a safe and sane gaiety and it does not leave a 'head' in the morning. Washington is gay under the Wilson administration. We should worry about London criticisms of Bryan's 'grape juice diplomacy.'"

This was the tart comment of Mrs. Belva A. Lockwood, the only woman who has ever been a candidate for the presidency, when criticisms of Secretary of State Bryan's "dry" diplomatic dinner in the London papers were called to her attention.

Representative Bartholdt of Missouri, who for years has led a campaign to restore the canton in the army, said that no host, particularly a secretary of state, had any right telling his guests whether they could take a drink or not.

Not True Hospitality. "I deeply regret that the question of whether a man shall take a drink of wine with his dinner should have become a state matter," he said. "It is a question all gentlemen should decide for themselves. Why is his hospitality with a string tied to it, and that's not the American way. Mr. Bryan is forcing his personal views on officials whom he is entertaining as a secretary of state. That's improper. No host should

RAIL ROAD MEN ATTENTION

Your watch is one of your most valued possessions, your greatest asset. You are required to own a 21 jeweled, adjusted watch that will average better than 30 variation per week. Your greatest trouble is when your watch needs repairing to find a workman who is thoroughly competent to repair and adjust such a watch. Workmen of this class are very, very scarce. Realizing that our repair department heretofore has not been up to the highest standard, caused me to search for a high class man. At last I have secured the services of Mr. Johnson, who has long been identified with firms doing the highest grade of watch repairing. We are now in a position to make a strong appeal to railroad men to bring their watches to us for adjusting and repairing. I can assure you better satisfaction than you have ever obtained before in La Crosse on this class of work. When a railroad man's watch is left with us for repairing and timing we loan him a new 17 Jeweled watch guaranteed a perfect time keeper. This watch he may carry until his watch is thoroughly timed and adjusted. If your watch needs regulating or setting, step in. Our services for doing this will cost you nothing.

force his private opinions on his guests, especially when it makes for their discomfort. The foreign diplomats, of course, are not in a position to criticize, but I'll bet they have some peculiar thoughts.

"They come from a station in life where gentlemen take a glass of wine with their dinner. 'Dollar diplomacy' of the republican regime was the target of criticism but grape juice diplomacy, I fear will be much less effective, so far as our national prestige is concerned."

Wilson Serves Wine. The fact that Secretary of State Bryan has taken the stand that all of the state dinners while he occupies his present portfolio will be "dry" affairs, will establish no precedent for the Wilson administration. President Wilson considers that in matters of statecraft as well as of private affairs the wishes of those concerned should be paramount. He has given one formal function—the dinner to the cabinet at the White House, and there was nothing to distinguish it from all other functions that have preceded it in this historic edifice. There was the usual service of wines, with the various courses, and the cabinet members drank or refused as they pleased. And it was believed here today that the only dry dinners so far as beverages are concerned, will be the various functions that are necessary for the secretary of state to tender.

GEOGRAPHY CLASS AT RUBBER MILLS

High School Students Get Object Lesson; Impressed with Skill of Workers

About thirty-five of Mrs. Margaret Carvagh's commercial geography class of the high school visited the La Crosse Rubber Mills during the early part of the week. The class was at that time studying rubber and the object lesson they got at the factory went far to instruct them in what they were studying. Mr. Albert Funk took the young people around the immense factory and showed them every process in the refining and manufacture of the rubber. They were highly impressed with the skill and industry of the workers and in the homes they wrote on the trip seldom failed to mention this fact.

It was great lesson for the young people to see the manufacture of the goods as it really is thereby obtaining something different than merely the reading matter of the text book. They then saw the rubber as it comes direct from the countries where it is produced and here saw the raw material made into shoes and boots.

Following is the theme written on the subject by Miss Helen Schafer one of the class. She has described as she saw the manufacture of a tennis shoe.
(By Helen Schafer)
A Trip to the Rubber Mills
The first place was the engine room then the boiler room and another engine room where large tanks of gasoline stood along the wall. In this engine room or tank room, a man was running through a rolling machine fabric for tennis shoes. This fabric had a thin coat of cement on and then the outside layer or fabric. If white tennis shoes, a layer of white fabric was put on, and if black, black was put on and etc.

There were two kinds of rubber shown in: The Up-River Fine Para from the Amazon in South America and the Cassi from the east coast of Africa, and the Island of Madagascar. The sap is taken from these large tropical trees and smoked and formed into large biscuits. That is the form in which all the mills get it. It is then washed and saved into quite large pieces. The pieces are then put through a washer and when it comes out is in long sheets and dried. It takes about 2 1/2 hours for the drying. This is then rolled out smooth being put through large pressing machines and rolled into a flat sheet. It is then put through another machine and stamped ready for the bottom of the tennis shoes.

This fabric for tennis shoes is cut into the shape of shoes. One girl was cutting the shoes, another was sewing on the tongues of the shoes, a boy was pounding the eye-lets and another finished the upper part of the tennis shoe. The half-finished shoe was then taken down stairs where the employees would put on the soles and put in the shoe strings and were ready to be packed. The drying of these shoes required from five to seven hours. Then they were taken out of the drying room ready to be packed for the market. In a couple of weeks, the factory starts in to make heavy overshoes and boots for the next fall wear. The goods chiefly made now were tennis shoes and summer goods.

This fabric that tennis shoes are made of is also used for the inside of rain coats and rain-proof goods.

and Door company of St. Joseph, Mo., and the remodeling of the building was designed by R. D. Church of this company, a large share of the work was sublet to La Crosse contractors. Organized in 1883
The State Bank of La Crosse was organized in 1883 as an outgrowth of the Holley and Borreson Banking house which had been organized in 1879 or four years previous. It is one of the oldest business institutions in the city and has been compelled to move twice because of the steady growth and expansion of its business. When first organized it occupied the building now held by the Adams Express company at 229 Main street. In 1885 the bank moved to its present location at 311 Main street.

About a year ago, the officers and directors decided to again seek less cramped quarters and the MacMillan corner was leased. For the last six months the work of remodeling the building has been pushed and has now reached completion. A fire in the factory which was making the bank's fixtures delayed the removal more than five months.

J. M. Holley, Sr., president of the State bank, came to Wisconsin in the summer of 1867. He accepted a position in the Columbia County bank at Portage and worked there more than a year. He arrived in La Crosse in the fall of 1867 and was employed as teller in the First National bank of this city. After three years in this position he accepted the position of teller in the Bataavian bank. One of his associates in this bank was Emil N. Borreson and after nine years they decided to launch a banking house of their own.

In 1879 the banking house of Holley and Borreson was organized with a capital of $5,000. After four years of rapid growth and development the firm was reorganized into the State Bank of La Crosse with D. D. MacMillan, president; Mr. Borreson, vice president, and Mr. Holley, cashier. George H. Ray succeeded Mr. MacMillan as president in 1896 and upon his death in 1910, Mr. Holley became president. John C. Burns was elected vice president.

Expansion of Business
The expansion of the State bank's business can be shown no better than in its deposits during the various periods of its history. When the Holley and Borreson Banking house turned over its possessions to the State bank the deposits were $37,500. When the State Bank moved into its present location in 1885 the deposits were $212,000. The statement of April 4, 1913 showed deposits to the sum of $1,333,148.66.

The men who will make the change from old to new Monday are: J. M. Holley, Sr., president; John C. Burns, vice president; J. M. Holley, Jr., cashier; Paul T. Schmitz, assistant cashier; Arthur Erickson and R. J. Ray, tellers; A. J. Miller, R. L. Dickenson and H. H. Hundredmark, bookkeepers; L. F. Robinson, draft clerk; George A. Hannus, messenger; and Frances M. Dunn, stenographer.

The directors of the bank are: A. Reiter, Joseph Miller, J. M. Holley, John C. Burns, L. H. Martin, H. A. Kroner and James Thompson. One condition in the lease held on the building by the bank provides that the name of the building be changed to the "State Bank Building."

ORTIE M'ANIGAL TO BE RELEASED

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 25.—Ortie McManigal will be released soon.

This was made certain today by a statement issued by Deputy District Attorney Ford. He said:

"McManigal undoubtedly is entitled to liberty and it will be given to him within a short time."

Ford refused to name the date, but he intimated that the release would be effected quietly. It is expected no announcement of any kind will be made but that the prisoner would be set free some day soon and will leave before anyone is the wiser.

SCHUBERT RESIGNS BOARD POSITION

Council to Elect Member of Board of Education; Hixon Favored if He Will Accept

JOSEPH BOSCHERT IS MENTIONED

Successor to John Frechhoff Will Be Chosen at Council Meeting Tonight

Former City Attorney A. H. Schubert yesterday tendered to the mayor and the common council his resignation as a member of the board of education. The resignation will be read and undoubtedly accepted at the special meeting of the council which will be held tonight on call of Acting Mayor William Torrance.

Because of the fact that Mayor Orsoren will not return to the city until tomorrow it is not likely that a successor to Mr. Schubert will be chosen at tonight's meeting of the council. There is considerable talk among the aldermen today in regard to the possible candidates for the office. In an interview today Alderman Frank Kohn declared that he had spoken to President of the Council William Torrance and several other aldermen and that there is considerable sentiment for Frank Hixon, if he will consent to accept the position.

"Mr. Hixon will be asked to take the position," said Mr. Kohn, "and if he will accept it I am convinced that he will be elected without a dissenting vote. He is the logical man for the place."

Among the others who have been mentioned for the place are Joseph Boschert and Otto Loeffler, but Schubert's resignation came so suddenly that no one has become a candidate for the position. Mr. Schubert announced today that he had resigned for business reasons.

The election of a successor to John Frechhoff, south side assessor, who resigned on account of ill health, will be the principal business at the meeting tonight.

BOY SCOUTS JOIN HUNT OF CHILD

CHICAGO, April 25.—Three thousand Boy Scouts in Chicago were today enlisted in the search for nine year old Katherine Winters, who disappeared from her home in Newcastle, Ind., on March 20, while selling tickets for a church benefit.

A committee of boys, representing the scout organizations of the city, called at the detective headquarters today. They were furnished with descriptions of the missing child who is believed to have been kidnapped by gypsies who brought her to Chicago or some nearby city.

Dr. William A. Winters, father of the child, who has been aiding Chicago detectives in the search, today left for Madison, Wis., accompanied by an investigator for the juvenile protective association, to interview Ivan V. Whistler, an uncle of the missing girl.

WIRE TO HIGH SCHOOL TO BE UNDERGROUND

All wires leading into the Hixon annex to the high school building and the high school building itself will be laid underground. Permission was granted to W. F. The wires will be laid underground at the request of Frank Hixon the donor of the annex building.

PROPERTY OWNERS CLOSE UP RESORTS

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., April 25.—Two disorderly resorts in this city have been ordered closed by agents of the owners of the properties. The mayor and chief of police disclaim all responsibility for the action, and members of the morals commission construe it to be due to fear of the law, just passed, making the owner of a property on which there is a disorderly resort liable to a fine of $300.

FREE SOCIALIST EDITORS

FORT SCOTT, Kan., April 25.—Federal Judge Pollock today practically ended the prosecution of Fred D. Warren and C. L. Phifer, editors of the Appeal to Reason of Girard, Kan., and the late J. A. Wayland, who owned the socialist publication when he sustained a demurrer of defense. The case therefore will not come up for trial May 5, as scheduled. Warren, Wayland and Phifer were charged with misuse of the mails in their publication of an exposure of conditions in the federal prison at Leavenworth.

WOMAN SAYS MAN THREATENED LIFE

Mrs. Anna Meyers Com- plains to Police that Stranger Invaded Her Home

SHE SAYS HE FLOURISHED A GUN

Accuses Him of Threatening to Shoot Unless She Married Him; Dyke- man Arrested

That an unknown man had threatened to shoot her unless she married him immediately, was the complaint Mrs. Anna Meyers (Bartenfeldt), proprietor of a boarding house on the north side, made to the police today. According to the woman's version of the story an unknown man invaded her home last night and flourished a revolver. She said that he declared he would shoot her unless she consented to marry him at once. She said he left when she promised to comply with his wishes. Mrs. Meyers steadfastly maintained that she did not know the intruder but was able to furnish the police with an excellent description of the man. She was aided in this description by her son John, who declared the man laid his hat on a chair and he noticed that it had the initials "A. D." marked in the crown.

Late last night Alonzo Dykeman, well known on the north side, was arrested on her description. He had the initials marked in his hat that the son had described. He admitted being in the woman's home and that he carried a revolver but denied having made any threats or demanding that she marry him. He declared that he was well known by the woman and that she had no reason to cause his arrest.

Mrs. Meyers is now under bonds to appear at the May term of court on a charge of stealing a purse containing about $23 from Ed Bachman while he was in her home several weeks ago.

Frank Miller and John Davis, strangers, were sentenced to thirty days each in the county jail by Judge John Brindley today after pleading guilty to attempting to short change Reinhold Schultz last Monday. They made no excuses, merely throwing themselves on the mercy of the court.

The trial of John Callan, John Donahue and John Hall, accused of robbing the Dahl store of several pair of shoes, was postponed today until May 1.

TO END CALIFORNIA AFFAIR IN HASTE

WASHINGTON, April 25.—President Wilson does not believe that it will be necessary for Secretary of State Bryan to remain in California more than two or three days. He believes that the Japanese situation, so far as the laws proposed by that state are concerned, will have clarified so that when Bryan reaches Sacramento there will be no need of a long stay.

TOKIO, April 25.—Newspapers all over Japan today published the resolution of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Japan, asking the government to make formal protest to the United States against the proposed California alien land bill.

Two days ago representatives of the chambers met here and adopted a resolution demanding that the government make a protest directly to President Wilson. This was not done and the authors of the resolution caused its publication.

UNIONS DISAGREE OVER BOX WORK

Bottlers and Boxmakers in Controversy Over Who Has Right to Repair Work

Because of a disagreement between the box makers and bottlers employed at the Heileman brewery as to the right to repair boxes, two or three box makers were laid off at the brewery day before yesterday pending an adjustment of the differences between the two unions. It is said that following an ancient custom the bottlers have been employed in the repair work during the slack winter months and the box makers were laid off. The box makers are said to have united in their demand that they be allowed to remain on the job and have the repair work. They maintain that the box work rightfully belongs to their department and that the bottlers are infringing on their rights. The bottlers, on the other hand, assert that the box makers' duties are confined to the making of boxes.

Anticipate No Trouble.
Organizer John Rae today announced that the union officials and the employers anticipated no trouble in adjusting the differences between the two unions.

Officials of the Riverside Box company were called on a few days ago by a committee from the box makers' union, which is connected with the Federal Trade and Labor Council of Cleveland, Ohio. The committee proposed to organize all box makers in this section. In organizing the union, they say, they will enable the manufacturer to increase the price of his output, and in this way allow the wage of the worker to be larger.

W. G. McGaughen, acting manager and overseer of the company, stated that one of the plans of the union is to enforce the marking of every shoo and box that is turned out. This would compel the company to employ a larger number of men in their factory.

The manager of the Riverside Box company stated that recently they have received large orders from cities distant from La Crosse, but have not been able to fill them on account of not being affiliated with the union.

TO DEPORT CRIMINAL

LEAVENWORTH, Kas., April 25.—H. C. Allen, a St. Louis immigration inspector, today arrested Emil Patrio at the federal prison gates on his completion of a three year sentence for white slavery. The officer and Patrio left for New York, from where the prisoner will be deported to Italy.

Guaranteed CURE FOR RHEUMATISM

OVER HALF OF ALL SICKNESS CAUSED BY CLOGGED UP WEAKENED KIDNEYS

Hundreds are Suffering With Kidney Trouble and Don't Know It. Backache, Bladder Disorder and Rheumatism are the Result

It is a well recognized fact among physicians today, that the greater part of all sickness can be avoided by keeping the kidneys working properly.

This is even more important than for the bowels to move regularly, because the kidneys and bladder are the filters and sewers of the body. If you suffer with pains in the back or sides, bladder or urinary disorders, lumbago, rheumatism, dizziness, puffy swellings under the eyes or in the feet and ankles, nervousness, tired and worn out feeling, or any of the many other symptoms of kidney trouble, don't neglect yourself another day and run the risk of serious complications. Secure an original package of Croxone, which costs but a trifle, take three doses a day, for a few days, and you will be surprised how entirely different you will feel. Croxone cures the very worst cases because it removes the cause of such troubles. It soaks right in and cleans out the kidneys and makes them filter out all the poisonous waste matter and uric acid that lodges in the joints and muscles, causing rheumatism; soothes and heals the bladder and quickly effects a cure.

It is the most wonderful remedy ever made for the purpose. You will find it entirely different from anything you have ever used. There is nothing else on earth to compare with it. It matters not how old you are or how long you have suffered, the very principle of Croxone is such that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results.

You can secure an original package of Croxone from any first class drug store. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if Croxone fails to give the desired results the very first time you use it.

POEHLING'S

B. A. Y. PLAN BIG INITIATION SOON

La Crosse homestead, Brotherhood of American Yeomen, held their regular meeting in Linker hall Tuesday evening. Twenty-five applications were presented for the large class to be taken in on ladies' night, which is May 27th, in La Crosse. From the number of prospects' names, which are being handed the deputies, Lee and Lee, the class will be equally as large as the one taken in during the ladies' campaign last year, which passed the hundred mark. After the meeting the usual large crowd of members and invited guests enjoyed dancing with the excellent music which was furnished by Mackbart's Yeoman orchestra.

A number of invitations were handed out during the evening for the joint May ball to be given by the Rowena circle, Ladies' Drill team and the B. A. Yeomen, May 28.

If a man had to help with the spring house cleaning, he might not notice it so much. It is living with it that hurts.

No Longer Cranky About His Meals

Has perfect digestion from the use of a well-known remedy that all can obtain.

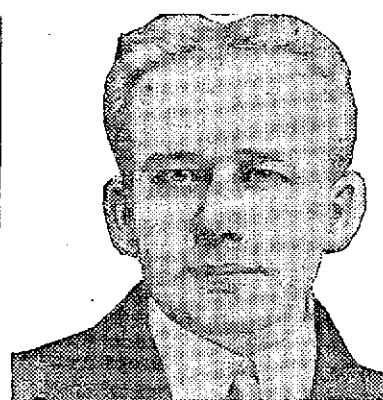

The temper of the family and the good cheer around the table, depend so much on the good digestion of each individual present that the experiences of some former dyspeptics who overcame their trouble should be of interest to those now suffering in this way.

The best advice one can give—but it is advice that is seldom heeded—is to eat slowly and masticate each mouthful carefully. However, if slow eating and careful mastication fall the next aid is one close to nature, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This remedy is an excellent digestant, and in addition to helping in the digestion of the food, acts gently on the liver and bowels, ridding them of the accumulation of waste that should long ago have been passed off. It is safe, reliable, pleasant-tasting, and results are guaranteed.

In the opinion of such people as Mr. L. J. Quinn, 1117 Newport Ave., Chicago, it is the ideal remedy for indigestion, no matter how severe, constipation no matter how chronic, biliousness, headaches, gas on the stomach, drowsiness after eating and similar annoyances.

Mr. Quinn says: "We use Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin as a family remedy and every member of the family from the five-year-old, who is the youngest of six children, to Mrs. Quinn and myself, use it for stomach trouble, sick headache and to regulate the bowels."

You can obtain Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar, the latter size being bought by heads of families already familiar with its merits. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.

When you use Syrup Pepsin you will see the fallacy of chewing mints and tablets or of taking cathartics, salts, pills and similar drastic medicines. Unlike these, Syrup Pepsin does not lose its good effect, and by automatically training the stomach and bowel muscles to do their work, soon restores these organs to normal.

If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin and you would like to make a personal trial of it before buying it in the regular way of a druggist, send your address by postal mail to—Dr. W. R. Caldwell, 417 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., and a free sample bottle will be mailed to you.

SCHOOL LAUNCHES BIG CORN CONTEST

Many Boys of La Crosse County Enter Race to Procure the Best Yield

SEED TESTING HIGHLY IMPORTANT

Sawdust Box Convenient and Efficient in Determining Value of Seed

The County Agricultural school co-operating with the La Crosse County Boys' and Girls' Agricultural club has launched a corn growing contest for the boys of La Crosse county following the general plan of the contest that was offered last year.

The contest is open to both the boys who took part in the contest last year and to all others who will enroll.

County Superintendent B. F. Oltman has enlisted the assistance of all the rural school teachers in securing membership to the Boys' and Girls' Agricultural club and enrollment to the Boys' Corn contest.

A large number has already enrolled for the contest and every mail to the agricultural school brings additional enrollments.

The rules of the contest provide for the enrollment of all boys of the county between the ages of 10 and 18 years. All who were in the contest last year will plant an acre of corn and will furnish their own seed unless it is necessary to secure it from the agricultural school.

Furnish Seed
All contestants entering the contest this year for the first time will be furnished three quarts of Wisconsin No. 7 corn, a sufficient amount to plant one-half acre. If any contestant wishes to furnish his own seed, he may do so providing he plants Wisconsin No. 7.

Each contestant will be expected to do all the work connected with planting, growing and gathering the corn and will receive instruction from the agricultural school in carrying out the work.

A very important part of the work and a part of much value to the contestants is a complete record of each contestant of all work connected with growing the crop. The boys will be expected to make a statement of every operation and cost of same so that at the end of the year they may know the cost of producing the crop as well as the profit per acre.

If every farmer would do the same with respect to all of his crops it would have much to do in evolving a more profitable agriculture.

The seed corn to be furnished contestants is to be distributed from the following places throughout the county:

Bank—Holmen.

Alfred Erickson's store—Mindoro.

Jones and Roschard—Bangor.

La Crosse County bank—West Salem.

Danavian National Bank—La Crosse.

County Agricultural school—Onalaska.

Contestants should indicate to the principal of the County Agricultural school where they would prefer to secure their seed.

Will The Seed Corn Grow

Farmers should be certain every year that the corn they plant will all grow. Poor seed corn is common in the northern states where there are short growing seasons which prevent the complete maturity of corn before early frosts. There is often considerable corn which fails to grow on account of lack of maturity, no matter how well it has been cured and stored.

There are many excellent methods of testing seed corn. The Rag Doll Seed corn tester is coming into general use, but if any farmer has not become familiar with this latest method it will be well for him to follow the directions of the saw dust box tester.

Instructions on testing seed corn have just been sent out to boys entering the Boys' Corn Growing contest. Any farmer who has not as yet tested his corn this year will do well at this late date to follow these instructions in getting rid of the poor ears of his seed corn.

Saw Dust Test

The directions for the saw dust method of testing follow: A box 20 by 24 inches inside and from 4 to 5 inches deep makes a convenient tester. This should be filled about two-thirds full of soft wood saw dust which has been scalded by pouring boiling hot water over it. Pack the saw dust in the box leaving the surface level. A piece of muslin two or three inches wider and longer in each dimension than the box may be dampened and ruled into two inch squares with an indelible pencil just so it will fit the inside of the box. The first row of squares to the left of the box should be numbered 1 to 10, the second row 11 to 20, the third 21 to 30, etc. (The top and bottom squares only need be numbered.) A box this size is sufficiently large to test 120 ears. The corn to be tested should be laid out in a regular order (say in groups of ten ears) and six kernels, (two from the tip of the ear, two from the middle, and two from the butt) taken from each ear which are placed in the proper square. The kernels should be placed so that the tip of all kernels point in the same direction and the germ of each kernel should be placed up. Attention to this will make it easier to read the test.

When the kernels from all the ears are placed, a piece of muslin just the width of the box is carefully placed over the kernels. Another piece of muslin three or four inches larger in each dimension than the box is placed over this and upon it a layer of damp sawdust 1 to 2 inches

REDFIELD TALKS TO MOTORBOATERS

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Secretary of Commerce William C. Redfield, under date of April 14, 1913, sent the following letter to the editor of Power Boating, indicating his interest in power boats, and that as head of the department of commerce he would see that the "little fellows" got a square deal:

"I say that the proper principle to set in making and enforcing the regulations of the steamboat inspection service seems to me to be that while the rights and privileges and opportunities of the steamboat and steamship interests shall have candid, full, and fair consideration, yet the life of the smallest child or of the humblest seaman is of greater import than are the profits of any transportation company or of any individual."

"The same feeling applies in my mind to the motorboat world. I am myself, as you know, a motorboat man. As such it has always been possible to comply with the regulations, and I have seen many occasions of accident and injury arising from failure to comply with them. Of course, the 'little fellows,' as you call them, should get and will get a square deal, but this leaves unsettled the question what a 'square deal' is and to whom the 'square deal' should be extended. Candidly, he who, regardless of rules or thoughtful of saving a few dollars, puts his own life or the lives of others at risk by going without lights or proper equipment is himself giving no 'square deal,' either to himself or to others. If the spirit of compliance with the law prevails, there should be little difficulty with the regulations."

BOLT OF LIGHTNING GIVES MAN HEARING

MARINETTE, Wis., April 25.—A bolt of lightning, which recently struck a building next door to his home, is believed to have resulted in the acquiring of the sense of hearing by Florian Blazejewski, a Menominee young man who had been a deaf mute since his birth. Blazejewski is rapidly attaining speech. He was until a short time ago a pupil at the Michigan school for the deaf.

BOY TESTS ICE AND IS DROWNED

BEMIDJIE, Minn., April 25.—Carl Zimmick Rice, aged 11 years, was drowned in Turtle river, near the home of his father, on Tuesday, when he left the field in which he was working to see if the ice in the river had gone out. It is thought that he attempted to cross the water on the ice, and fell in.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 25.—The forty-ninth semi-annual reunion of the Wisconsin Consistory and coordinate bodies, which opened Monday, came to a close last night with a banquet in the Masonic temple, Jefferson and Oneida streets. Fully 800 Scottish Rite Masons from all parts of the state were present.

William P. Kenny, commander-in-chief, paid a glowing tribute to the memory of distinguished men who have been identified with the organization in the past, but who have passed into the great beyond.

FOUR YEAR OLD IS THE BEST MAN

HUDSON, Wis., April 25.—With her four year old son by a former marriage acting as best man for her new husband, Mrs. Ina Webster of Duluth, a divorcee, was married here to Henry A. Phillips of Bemidji, Minn., under a special dispensation by County Judge Otto W. Arnkquist.

TENER DEFENDS BALL CONTRACTS

HARRISBURG, April 25.—Governor John K. Tener, former congressman and big league baseball star, yesterday defended the baseball contract system apropos of the Ty Cobb discussion.

"The present contract system is essential to the preservation of baseball," said the governor. "It stands between the big, powerful clubs, and the weaker ones in the matter of obtaining players. If there were not some such restrictions as this, it would only be a short time until all the best players would be on one team and the season's outcome would be determined in advance."

"It would be impossible to maintain a baseball league on such a basis. I do not know of one player who is underpaid, and I think the contract system works no actual injustice, but on the other hand is necessary in maintaining a degree of equality among the clubs and the interest of the baseball loving public."

U. S. HAS SCHOOL OF "BABYLOGY"

New Children's Bureau Aims to Educate Mothers in Child Raising

EXPLODES OLD THEORY OF DEATH

Believe that Mother Nature Intends Every Baby Born Should Live

CHICAGO, April 25.—Babylogy, a new science, is the subject interesting all the millions of mothers in the United States in Uncle Sam's newest school, the children's bureau, according to Miss Julia Lathrop, the school mistress of this latest addition to the government departments. In her first authorized interview since her official recognition, Miss Lathrop today told the United Press all about the plans and achievements of the bureau.

For the benefit of the humble mother of the tenement and the jeweled mother of the palatial mansion, the bureau's investigators are searching through the cities finding out all about the conditions under which babies are born and reared—or buried—and everywhere. Miss Lathrop said, mothers are eager to help the cause and spread the doctrines of modern babycraft. The results of these studies will be given to the mothers of the country, so that all of them—from the mansion to the hotel, can read and understand the lesson they impart.

Finds Out the "Why"

"This bureau has been formed to serve the needs of the twenty-nine and a half million children in America," Miss Lathrop declared in her outline of the scope of the new department. "It is trying to find out why children flourish, why they are puny, why they die. It used to be a cheerful medical theory that it was a good thing weakly children died in infancy; that it meant only the strong and well grew up. That theory has been exploded. Today medical authorities say that the death of these babies handicaps their brothers and sisters, and that there is no surer indication of the health rate of a nation than the death rate of babies less than one year old.

"The first great step in this great work has been an inquiry begun to determine infant mortality. The bureau is securing data in a series of industrial towns as to the fate of the children born within the period of a year. It is finding out just how these children have fared—whether they are healthy, dead or weak and ailing.

"No medical data is sought. The social and economic trend of the parents; their lives industrially and hygienically, before and since marriage, the protection the city is giving the baby in the way of clean streets, milk inspection, disposition of sewage and food shop regulations, are the things we want to know.

To Publish Findings

"The composite reports, to be published in a series of monographs, such as bulletins on milk, plant and animal industry, will be a series of pictures of infant life as we have found it. We tell how children have passed the first year of their lives—why some have died, and others lived.

"Briefly, these infant mortality bulletins and all that follow will be an effort to disseminate and popularize scientific knowledge of childbearing and raising in a manner that will be understood and appreciated by every mother in all stations of life.

"Our investigations, just begun, have been most successful. Mothers, when they have learned the purpose of our questions, have been pathetically eager to help us tell other mothers causes of baby troubles.

"We will publish in our series of monographs, sections on the best methods of bringing children up. You know, of course, that we are as much interested in the prosecution of proper school life by the growing child as in his infant surroundings. We want to keep him from going to work too early; to see that his environment is good and wholesome. But first we must begin at the fundamentals, and that is seeing that he begins life right. We want to know how many children are born yearly, how many of them live and how many die. Until we have a proper method of national birth registration, the number of children born annually in this country will be merely a matter of estimate.

"The most encouraging part of our work is the fact that nature expects little babies to live.

Can Decrease Death Rate

"The minute you begin helping by sending milk, by proper nursing, by medical attention, and by clean linens, you begin to decrease the death rate. Wonders are being worked in the great cities, where babies' lives are being guarded as a great asset.

"In addition to our active campaign work, the bureau is preparing a statistical handbook to show figures pertaining to the proper weight and sizes of babies, and what effect literacy and general education has on them. The bureau has a library, composed of books, excerpts and clippings, gathered from all over the world and printed in every language.

We hope, by perfecting this library, to be able to give to the public the last word on child raising—the greatest of conservation subjects.

"This bureau has no power to make laws. It has no power to remedy any conditions which it finds. Its powers are strictly administrative. Its value depends solely upon its ability to do something that the public wants done—to be helpful to mothers.

WAR LORD PEEVED AT MISS NANCY

May Chase Papa Leishman Out of Germany Because Duke of Crov Loves Daughter

Emperor William of Germany is as mad as a swarm of aroused hornets. Here's little Miss Nancy Leishman gone and got one of Bill's royal dukes to fall in love with her; and she's in love with him; and they're going to be married!

Which explains why Miss Nancy, daughter of John G. Leishman, United States ambassador to Germany, is in Paris with her mother, buying things of which mere men know nothing.

For Miss Nancy is to marry the Duke of Crov, against whom the only serious indictment is that he is a royal person. The duke hails from Westphalia, where they put up fine hams. The Almanac de Gotha doesn't tell that the duke is in the packing business, although he is wealthy enough to be mistaken for a beef magnate.

Official Washington is having the jimmies because Ambassador Leishman "permitted" his daughter to become engaged to the duke (as if he could help it) for the kaiser threatens to ask for the recall of Papa Leishman unless he induces Miss Nancy to change her mind, which, the kaiser should know, "can't be done!"

It sure riles Wilhelm that the courtship should have reached the public betrothal stage before they told him. He hasn't been so "hot" up since the crown prince threatened to marry an American prima donna.

No one in this country believes Ambassador Leishman will permit his daughter to make a morganatic marriage, so if the young people persist, and indications are that they will, the Duke of Crov will lose his royal privileges, such as his commission in the Garde du Corps, the right to call the emperor by his first name and borrow a pipeful from him.

As a regular fellow, Charles-Rudolph-Eugene-Philippe-Leon-Duke of Crov, should be relieved to shed himself of empirical snobbery and become the husband of a pretty American girl.

Miss Leishman isn't known in this country, having lived abroad since she was a child. The duke is 24.

AYLWARD SUCCEEDS GORDON APRIL 26

MADISON, Wis., April 25.—(Special.)—The appointment of John A. Davies, that he had been selected. The headquarters of the court are in Madison and Mr. Aylward will continue to devote time to his private practice. He will succeed George H. Gordon of La Crosse soon after April 26, when Gordon's term expires. Edward L. Luckow of Baraboo, appointed auditor in the navy department, will remove to Washington. The district attorneyship pays $4,000 a year.

HUSBAND KNEW BEST

Mrs. Bishop Reluctantly Consented To Advice of Husband, But Is Right Glad She Did, Now.

Waverly, Va.—In a letter from this place, Mrs. Mattie L. Bishop says: "I suffered miserably from womanly trouble and everything I ate would put me in such misery I would have to go to bed until it wore off. I could not even wash my dishes, after a meal.

At last, my husband begged me to take Cardui, the woman's tonic. I had tried so many different kinds of medicine, I didn't want to take it, but agreed to try it for his sake.

Before I had finished one bottle, I could eat all I wanted and could do all of my work all right.

I gained in weight, and looked so much better, that my own sister said she wouldn't have known me, had she seen me away from home.

I shall always recommend Cardui, for I know it will do all you claim."

If you suffer from any of the numerous symptoms of womanly trouble, don't wait until the trouble becomes chronic. You owe it to yourself, your friends and your family, to try to regain your normal health. Take Cardui, the woman's tonic, as so many thousands of other women have done, with good results.

Begin taking Cardui today.

AWARD PLEASING TO THE FIREMEN

President of Brotherhood Declares They Are Satisfied with Arbitration Award

PEORIA, Ill., April 25.—"We are greatly pleased with the results," said W. S. Carter, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen today following the decision of the arbitration board in the wage controversy on eastern roads. "Considering that the matter was arbitrated," he continued, "I am of the belief we came out in good shape, for most of the arbitrated troubles generally end in compromises. Our settlement was most favorable."

"On account of the award making wages uniform on all railways, the increase to firemen employed on some railways will be greater than in others."

The award was made late last night.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Secretary Frank Morrison of the American Federation of Labor today expressed himself as pleased with the award of the arbitration board regarding the claims of the 31,000 firemen on eastern railroads.

"We are deeply gratified at the increase which the firemen receive," he said. "It is simply a just one, and was badly needed by the firemen to help them meet the increased cost of living."

GRAY FADED HAIR, OR BEAUTIFUL, DARK ATTRACTIVE—CHOOSE, MADAM!

Says Sage Tea Mixed with Sulphur Restores Natural Color and Lustre

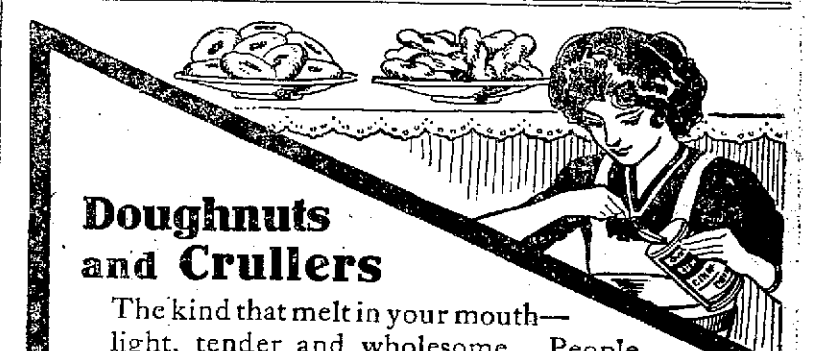

Gray, faded hair turned beautifully dark and lustrous almost overnight, is a reality, if you'll take the trouble to mix sage tea and sulphur, but what's the use, you get a large bottle of the ready-to-use tonic, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy" at drug stores here for about 50 cents. Millions of bottles of "Wyeth's" are sold annually, says a well-known druggist, because it darkens the hair so naturally, and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur and draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. Those whose hair is turning gray, becoming faded, dry, scraggly and thin have a surprise awaiting them, because after just one application the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful—all dandruff goes, scalp itching and falling hair stops.

This is the age of youth, gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with the Sage and Sulphur tonight, and you'll be amazed at your youthful appearance and the real beauty and healthy condition of your hair within a few days. Inquiry at drug stores here shows that they sell all lot of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur" and the folks using it are enthusiastic. O. T. Ehrhart, agent.

Assemblyman Hood, as a member of the committee who voted against concurrence, began the attack, and was followed by Assemblyman Anderson, who called it one of the most reactionary and vicious measures ever before the legislature. In big corporations like the United States Steel corporation and the Allis-Chalmers company, he said pensioning old employees was done to prevent strikes. He then read a telegram from Frank Morrison of the American Federation of Labor, saying that the federation would stand only for pensions by the state for employees.

Assemblyman Hood, as a member of the committee who voted against concurrence, began the attack, and was followed by Assemblyman Anderson, who called it one of the most reactionary and vicious measures ever before the legislature. In big corporations like the United States Steel corporation and the Allis-Chalmers company, he said pensioning old employees was done to prevent strikes. He then read a telegram from Frank Morrison of the American Federation of Labor, saying that the federation would stand only for pensions by the state for employees.

WISCONSIN NEWS

TO VOTE AGAIN ON WOMAN SUFFRAGE

Glenn Bill Advanced to Its Third Reading in Assembly by Vote of 51 to 34

MADISON, Wis., April 25.—(Special.)—The assembly's vote of 51 to 34 on woman's suffrage, by which last night it advanced the Glenn bill to third reading after it had passed the senate, practically assures another state referendum on the question to be held next year. In the debate Assemblyman Minkley, socialist, entertained the large assemblage with facetious reference to the division in third party ranks over this question. Assemblyman Mahon, feeling they were intended largely for him, announced that he was a progressive republican.

Assemblyman Minkley chided Mr. Mahon, who had been affiliated with the progressive party, for changing his vote two years ago, and mentioning the party's adoption of equal suffrage as a cardinal principle. To this Mr. Mahon replied that in view of the 90,000 majority against suffrage in Wisconsin last fall he needed no more convincing evidence of the spirit of Wisconsin voters on this question.

The vote was as follows: For the bill—Allison, Anderson, Bartingale, Bingham, Chinnook, Dolan, Dorn, Engstrom, Everett, Gannon, Goff, Gorecki, Grude, Gullickson, Hall (Don C.), Hall (Judson), Hawn, Heden, Holmes, Horibut, Jernigan, Jensen, Johnson (Axel), Johnson (K. A.), Johnson (L. L.), Larsen, Laursen, Laycock, McComb, Meland, Millar, Minkley, Mory, Nordman, Nye, Paul, Pfennig, Potts, Rhoads, Richards, Richardson, Rosa, Sawyer, Schmitz, Sharp, Smith, Sommerfield, Vint, Whiteside, Zinn, Speaker Hall—51.

Against—Bowe, Clancy, Conway, Dietrich (Aug.), Dietrich (J.), Estabrook, Guidice, Grimsrud, Hamata, Hedding, Hinkel, Hood, Hoverson, Kneen, Lentz, Litz, Mahon, Manning, O'Connor, O'Day, Ott, Paula, Ringle, Roessler, Roethe, Scanlon, Schindler, Schmitz, Smart, Stewart (T. A.), Telfer, Walsh, Ziller—34.

Paired—Kiefer for, Battis against; Carpenter for, Hansen against; Spoor for, Vieban against.

KILL PENSION MEASURE

BOSSHARD BILL TO LET CORPORATIONS GIVE OLD AGE PENSION LOSSES EVEN HIS SUPPORT

MADISON, Wis., April 25.—(Special.)—The assembly last night frowned upon what was interpreted as an anti-union labor measure when by a vote of 69 to 18 it killed the Boshard bill providing that corporations may institute a pension system for employees reaching old age. Senator Boshard himself was quoted as having withdrawn his support for the bill after learning its character. It came to the assembly without recommendation from the assembly judiciary committee.

Assemblyman Hood, as a member of the committee who voted against concurrence, began the attack, and was followed by Assemblyman Anderson, who called it one of the most reactionary and vicious measures ever before the legislature. In big corporations like the United States Steel corporation and the Allis-Chalmers company, he said pensioning old employees was done to prevent strikes. He then read a telegram from Frank Morrison of the American Federation of Labor, saying that the federation would stand only for pensions by the state for employees.

APPROVE CHANGE IN COMPENSATION LAW

MADISON, Wis., April 25.—(Special.)—By a unanimous report the committee on labor has reported the Bingham bill to amend the workmen's compensation law for passage. This bill wipes out the defense of contributory negligence, it places every employer of labor under the law unless he shall elect to stay out, and fixes specific amounts of damage for certain injuries. This is the bill advocated by the industrial commission. When the measure was up for consideration before the committee, there was considerable opposition to wiping out the contributory negligence clause. Chairman Crownhart of the commission said that this amendment would materially strengthen the law and would drive practically all employers of labor under it.

The Power behind the dough

K C

You may use an old favorite recipe and the best of materials and make it carefully, the oven may be just right, yet you will have a failure if "The Power behind the Dough" is not the right one to leaven it properly and make it light, digestible, wholesome.

Good baking without good baking powder is out of the question. K C Baking Powder has wonderful leavening power, and the double action—in the bowl and in the oven—makes good results doubly certain.

Take no chances of failure—use K C and have "good luck" every time. At all Grocers.

URGES RELIEF SURVEY

MADISON, Wis., April 25.—(Special.)—A proposal to institute a survey of the whole problem of outdoor relief in Wisconsin as a preliminary to mother's compensation legislation, was submitted to the assembly committee on public welfare yesterday as a substitute amendment to the pending bills on the latter subject. The amendment appropriates $6,000 for the purpose and stipulates that the survey shall be made by the state board of control. It was offered by Rev. W. F. Greenman, appearing for the Milwaukee council of philanthropy.

The Kind You Have Always Bought.

THIS is the caution applied to the public announcement of Castoria that has been manufactured under the supervision of Chas. H. Fletcher for over 30 years—the genuine Castoria. We respectfully call the attention of fathers and mothers when purchasing Castoria to see that the wrapper bears his signature in black. When the wrapper is removed the same signature appears on both sides of the bottle in red. Parents who have used Castoria for their little ones in the past years need no warning against counterfeits and imitations, but our present duty is to call the attention of the younger generation to the great danger of introducing into their families spurious medicines. It is to be regretted that there are people who are now engaged in the nefarious business of putting up and selling all sorts of substitutes, or what should more properly be termed counterfeits, for medicinal preparations not only for adults, but worse yet, for children's medicines. It therefore devolves on the mother to scrutinize closely what she gives her child. Adults can do that for themselves, but the child has to rely on the mother's watchfulness. Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Phone The Grocer

Next time you phone the grocer ask him to send you a can of Van Houten's Rona Dutch Cocoa. Then make this simple test:

Put only one-half a teaspoonful of Rona into a cup into which you have put one-half the amount of sugar you usually use. Add boiling water and see how Rona Cocoa dissolves instantly. Just sip that rich, Dutch, chocolate flavor. Now you can see why exceeds all domestic cocoas. In the first place, it's more economical; you use only half a teaspoonful to the cup. And then it's much richer, smoother, finer. That's because of the Dutch process.

VAN HOUTEN'S RONA DUTCH COCOA

Try this nourishing food today. Phone the grocer and make the test.

SEIZE OPPORTUNITY TO LEARN TO SWIM

A large number of boys and young men have taken advantage of the opportunity that the Y. M. C. A. has offered them, in swimming instructions.

Hadben H. Corsan, the international swimming instructor of the Y. M. C. A. arrived in the city Monday and will give lessons until Saturday night. Mr. Corsan, while not teaching the boys to swim in the few minutes that he is with them in the water, leaves them with a knowledge of the proper stroke, and the ability to keep themselves in the water without sinking.

Mr. Corsan teaches the over-arm stroke, and condemns the breast stroke, although he admits that this is the stroke more widely used by teachers, and expert swimmers. He declares that a large majority of the deaths that occur each year from drowning are caused by the use of this stroke.

FOREIGN MARKETS

New York stocks

NEW YORK, April 25.—The stock market opened quiet and firm.

11 a. m.—A selling movement that appeared to be a bear raid rather than a wave of liquidation set in shortly after the opening of the market and prices were forced down to the low records made during 1907.

Some of the issues broke completely under the strain prominent among them being Illinois Central which fell to 113 1/2, Northern Pacific, which sold down to about the same figure and St. Louis and San Francisco second preferred. This stock sold down to 19, the lowest price since 1897.

Traders were extremely bearish on Union Pacific. About the only issues which showed any real strength were Copper stocks and Canadian Pacific.

Noon—Though trading was dull, the market appeared to have rallied slightly from the downward movement in the forenoon.

2 p. m.—The market hardened a little in the afternoon but trading was dull.

The stock market closed dull.

DOERFLINGERSFAMOUS SHOW IS TABLOID SUCCESS

"Time, Place and the Girl" Hit at Majestic with Tom Whiffen as Johnny Hicks

With Tom Whiffen shining as Happy Johnny Hicks, the gambler, and Miss Jessie Houston as the girl, the famous musical comedy, "Time, Place and the Girl," opened for a three day stay at the Majestic last night. The piece has been shortened to fit the requirements of tabloid musical comedy, but all of the lively parts and catchy songs have been left, so that the show has a snap to it that exceeds the average tabloid musical show.

Tom Whiffen was the bright light of the company. The familiar role of the happy-go-lucky gambler fitted him like a glove. The rest of the cast, especially Miss Houston, was capable and pleasing. The chorus sang and danced with plenty of vim. The company went through the show with speed and dash, never even waiting for encores, although the audience repeatedly applauded insistently in an effort to call back some of the singers. Between the acts there were attractive specialties, the best being a humorous monologue by Mr. Whiffen.

MADISON, Wis., April 25.—(Special.)—The bill to abrogate the provisions of the present law which permits police officers to be selected by civil service was opposed by chiefs of police before the assembly committee on municipalities yesterday afternoon. The bill proposes to give this power to the mayor in cities of the second and third and fourth class. The measure was opposed by Henry C. Baker, chief of police at Racine and by Thomas Shaughnessy, chief of police at Madison. Both men claimed that it would put the departments out of touch with the chief and would rob them of the control they should have.

SCHOOL STRIKE Dwindles
PITTSBURG, Pa., April 25.—A Pennsylvania law providing that parents of truant children may be fined two dollars a day for absence of their children without cause may end the school strike. Hundreds of children returned to school when a report would be taken before aldermen, and fined two dollars for each day's absence of each child.

3,000 MEN BUSY ON REMEY LEVEE

Flood Fighters Return to Work on Caving Dyke After Deserting It Last Night

REMEY, La., April 25.—At dawn today 3,000 men who deserted the caving levee at 2 o'clock this morning, while a thunderstorm raged, returned to work and although the situation is critical, the embankment is still holding. Three boats with hundreds of thousands of sacks of sand are being rushed to the scene. A corps of government and state engineers are directing the fight to save the levee.

Had the break come last night before the men stampeded hundreds of lives would have been lost. However, the eight vessels expected here by noon will amply accommodate all the flood fighters should they be forced to flee.
